

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|     |                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|     |                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 1.  | ZL202010304652.X 2020 11 10                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 2.  | Micro-fluidic chip and its modification methodand application in detection of the quantity of food bacteriaUS10752963B2 2020 8 25                                                    |
| 3.  | ZL200810163532.12011 9 7                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 4.  | GB/T 30764-2014                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 5.  | -                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|     | NY/T 2821-2015                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 6.  | GH/T 1087-2013                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 7.  | T/ZZB 0364-2018                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 8.  | Transfer Assessment of Carbendazim Residues from RapeFlowers to Apicultural Products, Journal of Analytical Methods inChemistry, 2017, 2017: 6075405;                                |
| 9.  | High-throughput method based on a novel thin-filmmicroextraction coating for determining macrolides andlincosamides in honey, Food Chemistry, 2021, 346: 128920;                     |
| 10. | Magnetic dispersive solid-phase extraction based on a noveladsorbent for the detection of triazole pesticide residues in honeyby HPLC-MS/MS, Analytical Methods, 2016, 8: 5296-5303. |

|  |                                                                                                                      |
|--|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  | 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 |
|  | 1. 2. 3. 4. 5.                                     |
|  |                                                                                                                      |